This past Sunday was all about the music in New York! The stars came out at the Country Frair Entertainment Park for Party 105's Mega Jam this past weekend and showed off their vocal chops to their fans!

Thousands of fans from all over the New York area came to see some of their favorite singers perform. The concert featured three of the hottest acts in music right now—Sean Kingston, LMFAO, and Brooke Hogan. Also featured on the bill newcomer Kristine Elezaj. She had an amazing performance and was even bumped at the last minute to perform with the headliners.

This year, LongIsland's Party Station hand-picked one of the hottest brewing talents in New York, bringing Pop sensation Kristine Elezaj to lead the roster of fan favorites. Kristine performed Always, Souvenirs, and Let Me Know, blowing everyone away.

Kristine sang and danced for the crowd, with a routine created by Kevin Maher, who also works with Britney and New Kids on the Block. After her performance, the radio station owner jumped up on stage to thank Kristine and said that by this time next year, "[Kristine] will be too big to perform at Mega Jam."

That's quite the compliment! Well we look forward to see what comes from Kristine in the future!
