Y!™ Q&A WITH SAUCY SINGER KRISTINE ELEZAJ

Kristine Elezaj is hot on the scene! She's busting out with Souvenirs, a sassy single {take a listen on her mySpace music page} that has her busting into the bubble of the pop music world.

She's sexy, young and fun, and she's been working for this moment her whole life!

"I started performing and doing theater when I was 6," she tells me. "My 1st grade teacher got me into the drama program when I was in school and I feel in love with being on stage! From then on I was always singing and dancing."

Q: Was there a defining moment when you realized singing was your deal?

A: "I knew I wanted to be a singer/performer when I saw Whitney Houston's I want to Dance With Somebody music video. I remember saying to myself one day I'm going to do that! I would watch music videos all day and stand in front of my bathroom mirror or I would take my stereo into my basement and pretend I was in my own music video or in an arena performing."

Q: Like many of us, you're a total Twitter addict! Who are some of your favorite tweeters?

A: "I'm obsessed! haha I follow some of the weekly magazines and Perez Hilton's tweets always crack me up! There are also some clothing sites I follow like @singer22 because I'm a shopaholic and I'll get the latest updates on new items, trends and yes even discount codes!"

Just don't get her confused for a hapless girly-girl. Kristine also does rally car driving, which she says is a family hobby. "It's special for me because it's something my father and I enjoy doing every year together," she says. "It's a totally rush though being in control of such a powerful machine."

Q: How'd you get the nickname "Kebe"?

A: "It's actually the initials for my name; Kristine Elizabeth Bernadette Elezaj"

Q: Now that you're regularly hitting the red carpet, can you give us some Hollywood event essentials?

A: "I must have my #35 lashes from MAC, Dr. Hauschka moisturizer and a killer pair of high heels!"

Kristine Elezaj's single "Let You Know" is currently on iTunes.
